America II welcomes President George W. Bush

St. Petersburg, Fla. Wednesday, March 6, 2002 - Mike Galinski, chief executive and owner of America II Electronics, Inc., announced today that the company will welcome President George W. Bush to its corporate campus Friday, March 8. Florida Governor Jeb Bush and St. Petersburg Mayor Rick Baker will also be in attendance.

"It is an honor on behalf of myself, America II, and the entire Tampa Bay area to receive this recognition from President Bush, Governor Bush, and Mayor Baker. Our surrounding community has supported America II tremendously over the years, and it has always been our position to give back as much as we can by acting as a good corporate citizen. We appreciate immensely the fact that America II's efforts are now going to be recognized not only in our surrounding community, but also on state and national levels," commented Galinski.

America II Electronics contributes to its community by coordinating local volunteer and team-building activities as well as providing stable employment, and even growth, amidst recent economic conditions. This week alone, America II has added 29 employees to its local headcount of 500 through two training classes designed to equip new hires with pertinent professional skills and industry knowledge. Later this month, the company will complete construction on an 80,000-square foot warehousing facility, expanding its existing 350,000-square foot corporate campus and creating more jobs.
